Matthew H. Paull is the Chief Financial Officer for McDonald's Corporation. Mr. Paull had been a Senior Vice President—Finance with McDonald's Corporation since 1999. His responsibilities included supervising tax, insurance, and facilities and systems departments. He served as a leader on a variety of financings and special projects. Most recently, he assisted McDonald's Japan in preparing for their initial public offering and was heavily involved in the company's investment in Pret A Manger.

Prior to joining McDonald's in 1993, Paull was a partner at Ernst & Young where he managed a variety of financial practices during his 18-year career there. His practice included consulting with many large multinational corporations.

Paull received his bachelor and master's degree in Accountancy from the University of Illinois.

Mary Healy is the Vice-President for Investor Relations. She also received her degree in Accountancy from the University of Illinois.

McDonald's is the world's leading food service retailer with about 29,000 restaurants in 121 countries serving 45 million customers each day.
